

The DRM presents a webinar on:

"Choosing a conference presentation style and writing a winning abstract"

14 March 2019, 12pm-1pm (South African Standard Time)

Description:

The purpose of this webinar is to share with you the process of abstract development as well as types of presentations you can consider for submission to the Psychological Society of South Africa's (PsySSA) 25th anniversary congress to be held at Emperors Palace, Johannesburg. The abstract submission deadline is March 31, 2019.

We would like to share with you some insights and discuss with you about:

- ✚ How to decide on your presentation format
- ✚ Identify the key components of successful abstracts
- ✚ Review sample abstracts for different types of projects
- ✚ Identify steps in the online submission process

Presenter: Lynn Hendricks is the chairperson of the Division for Research and Methodology and works as a PhD candidate researcher in the Social Methodology Research Group-Qualitative Inquiry Team at KU Leuven in Belgium and at the Centre for Evidence Based Health Care at Stellenbosch University. She has much experience in teaching presentation skills and has successfully mentored many potential presenters in the successful acceptance of their congress abstracts.
